Winterfest: free jazz at the wineries

BY RAFAER GUZMÁN
rafer.guzman@newsday.com

You've heard of jazz cabaret? Try jazz Cabernet. Jazz on the Vine, a series of free concerts at Suffolk County wineries, kicks off tomorrow and continues every weekend through Sunday, March 31, part of the sixth annual Long Island Winterfest. With about 60 different musicians playing 80 shows, it marks a rare convergence for jazz fans. (It also coincides with the Monterey Jazz Festival on Tour, a multi-performer event making two stops on Long Island this weekend.)

Not bad for a musical idiom that often seems to be going the way of the 8-track.

WHO'S PLAYING

Among the highlights are tomorrow night's show at the Wölffer Estate Vineyards in Sagaponack with pianist Judy Carmichael, a Hamptons local known for her lighthearted but technically proficient stride style. That concert is part of the Steinway Series, which features various musicians playing pianos supplied from the Melville showroom of Steinway & Sons.

his own quirky, witty originals. Among the local talents are Monday Michiru, a well-regarded soul singer (playing 2 p.m. Saturday at Laurel Lake Vineyards) and the Trevor Davison Swing Jazz Quartet (4 p.m. March 20 at Raphael), both based in Jamesport. And fans of jazz's golden age won't want to miss Riverhead's Teddy Charles, the 81-year-old vibraphonist who earned his chops working with Charles Mingus, Miles Davis, Slim Gaillard and Benny Goodman. He plays at 3 p.m. Feb. 27 at Duck Walk Vineyards North.
