20 FAMILY CAMPS—MAKE THIS SUMMER COUNT

Explore the beachscapes framed by grassy dunes adventures and timeless pastimes. Nestled in the Adirondacks, small towns and villages brim with hometown appeal, while the city of Glens Falls provides a vibrant cultural hub. In the Lake George area, there are more than 20 lakes that are prime for outdoor sports, including river tubing, swimming, kayaking, and boating.

Experience your best family vacation yet in the Lake George area. For a free travel guide, go to www.visitlakegeorge.com or call (800) 365-1050.

Long Island's Suffolk County

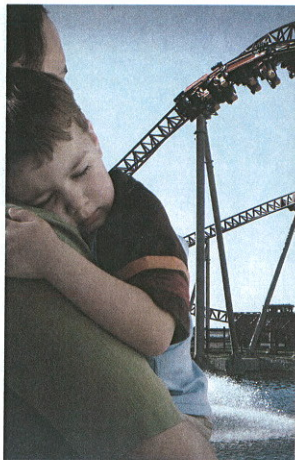

Home to two of the top 10 beaches in America, Long Island's Suffolk County has everything you need to relax and recharge on your family's next vacation getaway.

Before the summer rush, explore Long Island's seaside splendor with a family road trip. In Southampton and East Hampton on Long Island's South Fork, walk on powdery white sand beaches and admire the grassy dunes that are simply stunning. Just a short ferry ride from one of three departure points on the South Shore, experience a true escape from traffic and stress on the car-less, 26-mile-long Fire Island National Seashore. This barrier island is cherished for its serene beachfront communities and pristine wilderness.

Along with its lovely natural beauty, Long Island has a fascinating maritime past and historic lighthouses that add character to its picturesque shoreline. However, what really sets Long Island apart is more than just beaches. There are standout art museums, such as the Vanderbilt Museum and Planetarium in Centerport and Parrish Art Museum in Southampton. On the East End, there are more than 40 wineries and award-winning winemakers. Inviting a Sideways-like road trip. Throughout Long Island, you'll also find some of the country's most beautiful public golf courses. In chic beach towns, like the Hamptons, you can also check out Madison Avenue-like window-shopping, cute boutiques and New York City-caliber eateries.

For more information, visit the Long Island Convention & Visitors Bureau at www.discoverlongisland.com or call (877) 386-6654 ext. 275.
