

Home » 2017 Site InSpections » Long Island Calls a Full-Court Press for Your Next Tournament

Long Island Calls a Full-Court Press for Your Next Tournament

This first-class location on the Eastern Seaboard is perfect for your next tournament.

Posted by Editor in 2017 Site InSpections, Northeastern US

This first-class location on the Eastern Seaboard is perfect for your next tournament.

Like 2

Tweet

G+ 0

Keyword Search

To search, type and hit enter

Get Our Free Newsletter

Related in Site InSpections

Long Island Calls a Full-Court Press for Your Next Tournament

Valley Forge Sports: Never Stop Fighting

Erie: Sports Scene Thrives in the Great Lakes Region

Related in Fields & Facilities

6 Reasons Why You Should Choose Maryland for your Lacrosse Event

Why choose Long Island for your tournament?

Long Island's scenic beaches have made it a renowned tourist destination, but it also has much to offer tournament planners. With beautiful parks, elite institutions of learning and top-notch indoor sports facilities, Long Island makes an ideal location for your next sports event.

Located at the doorstep of New York City, Long Island is close enough for your guests to take in all the sights and glamour of the Big Apple while staying in a more relaxing environment.

What can your guests do on Long Island?

A difficult question tournament planners have to ask themselves is “What can my participants do in between games?” They have to find locations that will offer vacation-type activities for guests to enjoy in their leisure time. That is why Long Island is the ideal location for your next event.

Museum Row, located near Eisenhower Park, includes the Long Island Children’s Museum, the Cradle of Aviation, Nassau County Firefighters Museum and Education Center, and Long Island Museum for Science and Technology.

For fun in the water, visit one of several famous beaches. Try your hand at fishing, scuba diving and surfing. Fire Island National Seashore, with its high dunes, maritime forests and historic lighthouses Fire Island, stretches 26 miles along the shore of the Great South Bay.

Click the Instant Info Logo to let us connect you with Long Island

Jennifer Rothman

Sports Development Manager

Email: jrothman@discoverlongisland.com

Website: www.discoverlongisland.com/

